

2016

12/30/16	The fear is by 2025 4 million American truck driving jobs will be in jeopardy. The only truck driving jobs left will be for ISIS suicide jihadis.
12/30/16	Obama leaves office desperately looking for positive legacy items. He presided over the longest war in American history, ordered the bombing of five countries, and killed Osama bin Laden with Navy Seals and an American citizen with a drone - which, of course, won him a Nobel Peace Prize.
12/30/16	WikiLeaks released DNC emails showing how the DNC plotted to undermine Bernie Sanders in their primary. So to recap, if I understand what the left is saying here, Putin might have rigged our election by revealing how Democrats rigged their election.
12/20/16	If Obama or Hillary had the relationship of respect with Putin that Trump has, they would have five more Nobel Prizes by now. Somehow, getting along with a world leader is suddenly a bad thing for libs.
12/20/16	The Dems have more "-ist" words than Charlie Sheen has STDs. All 52 cards in their deck are the race card.
12/18/16	This scandal has brought the Clintons closer. Hillary, Bill, Chelsea and her husband were seen Christmas shopping together near Chelsea's $15 million starter apartment in NYC. They all stick together now, fearful that if one family member breaks loose, he or she might go to FBI Director James Comey and turn state's evidence on the others.
12/18/16	It sounds fair. If the Clinton scam was all about charity and not influence peddling (and now with all the time Hillary has to devote to "charity work"), logic would dictate that donations should skyrocket. The Clinton Foundation has already eradicated the Haitian earthquake victims' trust in foundations and the real charitable work they do. But with our help, they can do more.
12/18/16	The Clintons probably learned their self-enrichment techniques from Vice-Hypocrite Al Gore. When Gore ran for president in 2000, the federally required filing of his net worth was $700,000. According to CBS News, his net worth now exceeds $200 million. The Clintons, fellow career "public servants," are worth about the same. It's a good thing they are libs and the money doesn't mean anything to them.
12/6/16	He did backtrack on one major campaign promise so far: to see that Hillary Clinton goes to jail for a long time over her foundation and private server crimes. The only person who seems disappointed about Trump's change of heart is Bill Clinton.
12/6/16	This wall will not affect many Mexicans, since most of them are already living in the USA anyway. Most illegal immigrant Mexican men are happy with increased border security, as it keeps their in-laws from visiting over the holidays.

12/6/16	Bowing to the economic populist political cry to raise tariffs on our trading partners will not work. As Americans learned with the Smoot-Hawley Act in the 1930s (the knee-jerk reaction of charging up to 50% tariffs on imported products), they actually paid the 50% increase in the cost of their goods. Smoot-Hawley, along with big-government program growth under FDR, prolonged the Great Depression.
11/29/16	Like Obama, Fidel Castro held grudges. A Yale professor in our group was denied his visa at the last minute because he wrote decades ago that Fidel overstated his baseball prowess. Fidel remembered.
11/29/16	Desperate for a positive legacy item, Obama set about normalizing relations with Cuba. This means they soon they will have nukes and we will get a box of cigars. In that island nation, Obama is more popular than Castro – but so is loading your family members onto a Styrofoam cooler and floating them to Florida.
11/29/16	My main takeaway: Cuba is a political and economic lesson not taught well enough to our schoolchildren. With the rise in popularity of Bernie Sanders and Jill Stein, it's clear that Americans do not understand the dire lessons of socialism's poisonous ideology and the devastation it brings to every country that has fallen prey to its hollow temptations. In a troubling Pew Research Center survey, 49 percent of 18 to 29-year-olds had a positive reaction to the word "socialism."
11/22/16	Trump's first pick, Senator Jefferson Beauregard Sessions from the great state of Alabama for Attorney General, is a good one. Being a citizen of the South and having named my son "Jeb," I like scaring Northerners with names like "Jefferson" and "Beauregard" - it keeps them on their toes. After eight years of Northern elitist rule, this will be fun.
11/22/16	My guess is that none of the "stars" who said they would leave the country will. Even George Clooney is not going to flee. But he felt he had to do something symbolic and courageous, so he moved his office down the hall. Yes, celebs are mad, but not smart enough to learn the metric system
11/22/16	In dramatic, grandstanding statements this week, Mayors de Blasio and Emanuel told illegal immigrants that they would be safe in their cities. Syrian refugees looked at Chicago murder stats and said, "We like our odds better here in Aleppo."
11/15/16	The big losers in this Presidential election were the leftist mainstream media - in short, the media. They were willfully disconnected from reality and dry humped the Clinton campaign to the end.
11/15/16	After a bitter campaign, the president met with Trump at the White House in an anticipated but awkward first-ever visit. It was just the two of them and their food tasters. Yet the meeting seemed to go well given Obama's relentless ridiculing of Trump on the campaign trail and the fact that Trump had never been to a black family's house before.
11/15/16	The red map of the vast land Trump won versus the small areas Hillary won looks like a Verizon cell coverage map. "Hey Washington, can you hear us now?"

11/9/16	Hillary and Trump campaigned frantically on the last day before the election. Trump barnstormed across the Midwest to shore up supporters. And Hillary spoke to her base to get out the vote for her, giving speeches to a small, off-the-record campaign rally in the NBC newsroom. She also spoke at some cemeteries in Chicago, New Orleans and Indiana.
11/9/16	While he is likable, President Obama's policies are awful. From ObamaCare to his regulatory executive orders, his idealistic grad school theories just don't work. He turned the Justice Department into a corrupt, racist, vigilante operation and the IRS into his own Mafia hitmen. We had enough.
11/9/16	Hillary misjudged Middle America's anger. Her strategy down the stretch was just to ignore embarrassing scandals and run out the clock. It worked for her marriage, but not in this election.
10/31/16	I just hope FBI agents wore gloves and hazmat suits when they handled Weiner's personal computer. Data from backing up a smartphone got on their laptop. Yet again Anthony Weiner's hand-held equipment terrifies a woman.
10/31/16	In what is now being called "DickiLeaks," where investigators have found "stroking guns," Weiner again inserts himself where he's not wanted. Huma Abedin is no longer on the campaign trail; she has disappeared. If you want to find her, I suggest looking under that campaign bus where she's been thrown by Hillary.
10/31/16	Nothing says "I was innocent" more than wiping your emails away with BleachBit so they can't be recovered - after a subpoena - and smashing your ten cell phones, nine of which you said you didn't have.
10/31/16	I just hope the investigation does not get in the way of the Clintons' historic achievement: becoming the first two-impeachment family. That makes a nation proud.
10/25/16 /	According to Monday's Wall Street Journal, McAuliffe's Democrat cabal gave "nearly $500,000 to the election campaign of the wife of an official at the FBI who helped oversee the investigation into Mrs. Clinton's email use."
10/25/16	Wall Street continues to feed her protection money. It was reported Monday that, of the 56 donors in both parties who gave over $1 million dollars, or about $200 million in total, 83% of all donations were to Hillary's cause, and only 17% to Trump's.
10/18/16	It's odd how the liberals, the self-professed "tolerant" ones who constantly label anyone who disagrees with them as "hateful," seem to be perpetrating the most violence in America, whether it's attacking Trump supporters or rioting after a police shooting.
10/18/16	I am not sure how we got to this point in this country. Apparently we can no longer have a difference of political opinion. Those of us who believe in limited government, balanced budgets and individual responsibility are the "hateful" ones.

10/18/16	The rancor is incredible. Hillary Clinton's speeches start with the playing of the National Anthem to make sure everyone is seated so she can begin, all because of an NFL quarterback who makes $16 million a year and says he cannot get a fair shake in America.
10/11/16	To call this presidential race a three-ring circus is to insult clowns, jugglers and sword-swallowers. Speaking of whom, Trump had many of Bill Clinton's exes in the audience.
10/11/16	Pence beat Kaine in the painfully white V.P. debate, the "Thrilla in Vanilla." Both men were more reasoned, articulate, kind, respectful and talked more about issues than Clinton v. Trump. So Americans didn't watch.
10/11/16	Bernie has been dispatched to get millennials out to vote by finding their parents' addresses and going basement to basement urging the kids to vote for Hillary. If they put down their video games and pause from posting a pic on Snapchat of the burrito they had for lunch, they just might.
10/11/16	Hillary must capture the millennial vote to win, but she does not excite young kids like Obama did. This has been her second biggest challenge on the campaign trail, right behind climbing three or more stairs.
10/4/16	The extension of the Clinton campaign, The New York Times, giddily – and maybe illegally but certainly without authorization – revealed a portion of Donald Trump's personal tax return from 1995, which showed him taking a $912 million loss. Maybe the documents came from Obama's IRS henchmen, the Special Lois Lerner Division.
10/4/16	Democrats try to conflate a tax loss carryforward, a standard and very legal tax accounting practice, with Trump not paying his taxes. It's the same lie the Democrats told about Mitt Romney not paying taxes. Yes, it's underhanded and misleading, but this is how Democrats win. You can't really expect them to win on their own ideas or results.
10/4/16	The real financial question is how the Clintons, life-long "public servants," have become worth about $100 million – or more. They have not started a business that employs people. The only jobs they've created are for prosecutors, subpoena deliverymen and their defense attorneys.
10/4/16	Bill Clinton carried on for 30 years with "rodeo queens," as Hillary called them. He has been impeached and disbarred; he has been accused of rape, lying and philandering. Yet America still likes him much more than Hillary.
9/27/16	Hillary Clinton was robotic and scripted. She obfuscated when she had to, knowing NBC's Lester Holt had her back. The "moderator" interrupted Trump 41 times and Clinton only seven. Each was a baiting, leftist agenda-driven interruption.
9/27/16	Moderator Holt wrongly tried to fact-check Trump several times during his 41 interruptions – and he was mistaken, most notably on the legality of "stop and frisk" and Donald Trump's opposition to the Iraq War. Hillary voted for the Iraq War, yet no mention was made of her position.

9/27/16	Together with his NBC (home of Brian Williams and PMS-NBC) handlers, Lester attacked Trump on his taxes, the birther issue, Iraq, his wealth, businesses, racism, temperament, etc. Only 20 seconds were spent on Hillary's email scandal and none at all on Benghazi, the Clinton Family Crime Foundation, Hillary attacking Bill Clinton's many sexual accusers, her lying about coming under sniper fire, her lies about her health and her sudden massive wealth. The debate was well orchestrated to keep Trump on the defensive; Lester, NBC and Hillary tag-teamed Trump well.
9/27/16	I watched some of the debate at a bar, where the sound was off. Trump appeared high energy and looked like he was acting out a Seinfeld episode as Kramer. Hillary appeared angry, in her perpetual state of looking thin-lipped, smug and miffed. Her facial expression looks like you just put your iced drink down on her furniture with no coaster.
9/27/16	So Democrats promote the idea that Trump is a racist, and Republicans stick to their theme that Hillary is legally dead. Quite a race on the issues.
9/20/16	Hillary's carefully controlled, personal doctor's press release said in measured terms that she is OK and should be well enough in a week to return to lying to the American people, deleting emails, and smashing her cell phones like Gallagher at his Branson, Missouri show.
9/20/16	I'm not sure when it happened, but now politicians just lie to us without consequences. Obama sold Obamacare on lies: "If you like your healthcare, you can keep your healthcare. Period. If you like your doctor, you can keep your doctor. Period." Then he said Obamacare would "reduce the average family's healthcare costs $2,500 a year." All premeditated lies.
9/20/16	The IRS targets Obama's political opponents and then its officials take the Fifth; they do not answer subpoenas and smirk at justice. After Hillary lied about her emails, members of her State Department tech crew took the Fifth; one didn't even show up after being subpoenaed by Congress. Hillary lied, too.
9/20/16	Maybe they get away with such lies and indignities today because the press no longer investigates Democrats. The media are advocacy media; they never turn on one of their own. The mainstream media treated Trump well, urging him on and promoting him in the GOP primary against the other sixteen candidates because they thought he'd be easier for Hillary to defeat. Now they run negative story after insulting story about him since there is a chance he could win.
9/13/16	When Libertarian presidential candidate Gary Johnson was asked by the condescending crew at PMSNBC what he would do about Aleppo, Johnson asked, "What is Aleppo?" Some say it was his Alamo. I thought Aleppo was a lesser-known Marx brother. Like most Americans, I only learn world geography when we fight there.
